Financial Summary

These days it's hard to budget! Fiscal year 2021 was another, even more unpredictable year due to various influences, including the pandemic, general economic uncertainties, and an emerging focus on justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion priorities (a good thing). Despite the unpredictability, we had a positive year, with net income of $160,000. One qualification on net income is that roughly $55,000 was pass-through project income from NGOs and agencies to get conflict reduction projects completed through us. We also received a one-time COVID-relief grant from the state of $30,000. From the balance sheet, total assets were $886,443, an increase of $196,801 from the previous year. We are growing, step by step, and getting more resources on the ground to save a place for the big critters (and the smaller ones they protect in turn). This year we are adding more program capacity to respond to needs across the region.

Also in fiscal year 2021, the P&C board established and funded an operating reserve of $180,000, which gives us six months' essential operating expenses in the event we encounter a disruptive financial event. Thanks to you and all our supporters, we are building a strong organization so that we can help future generations experience the magnificence of seeing wolves, bears, and lions in the wild.

Institutional and Foundation Funders

A sincere thank you to all of the generous institutional funders that awarded grant or contract funding to P&C for FY2021 – we are tremendously grateful for your partnership in protecting wild carnivores!
