

The Practice and Theory of Sustainable Ranching

August 12-23, 2019

NRSM 491

2 Upper-division credits Open to all majors, Undergrad/Grad

Engage first-hand with the practical work of grazing, herd management, large carnivore coexistence, and pasture health while exploring the ethics of ranching in the context of agriculture in the American West.

Week 1: Thunder Road Farm, Jocko Valley

Week 2: University of Montana's Bandy Ranch, Blackfoot Valley

For more information:

Contact Bryce Andrews at

bandrews@peopleandcarnivores.org

Register at:

<http://www.umt.edu/summer-semester/>

Not a UM student? University of Montana will work with your home college or university to transfer credits towards your degree.

Costs:

Tuition + $210 for food, lodging and transportation